

Practical Civic and Educational Transformation

Get active. Get Inspired. Get Involved.

CivicFest is a day-long event at Meridian Hill/Malcolm X Park combining dance, music, food trucks, local nonprofits looking for volunteers and members, and community workshops intended to inspire people to work together with joy, courage, wisdom, and kindness.

Neighborhood Walking Clubs & Field Days

Bringing people of all ages together for connection, outdoor physical activity, and their physical, mental and spiritual benefits.

The Civic Imagination

Radio show, podcast, or segment of an existing show: Stories to highlight local civic work and promising national work. (Summer 2019)

DC Tutoring & Mentoring Initiative

2 out of 3 DC students read below grade level. DCTMI is working with 40+ partner organizations and schools to recruit 60,000+ volunteers to become tutors and mentors and get people working across class, race and ideology toward a shared goal.

How can we work together for the long-term with wisdom, kindness, courage, and creativity to make a better world for all? How can we take more responsibility for one another, for our communities, and for our larger world?

In the long run, these are our central challenges if we are to survive and thrive as communities and as a democracy. We need to start now by taking practical steps to change our civic culture. That's what DCTMI and the Civic Leadership Project are all about.

"We must learn to live together as brothers [and sisters] or perish together as fools." - Martin Luther King

*"What we need in the United States is not division. What we need in the United States is not hatred...but love and wisdom, and compassion toward one another, and a sense of justice for all those who suffer in this country whether they be white or they be black."
- Robert F. Kennedy, On the evening of Dr. King's assassination, April 4, 1968*
